

LOST & GONE

Just out from the blue i didn't have a clue you came to me

Filling a cold shell with a life your city, our desire there's no return

She said:

This is the purest affection we need no direction can't take us away from here
'cause we're lost and gone

You said you couldn't see but we were never meant to be there comes the rain

All those things that you gave they were all worth the pain some things remain

This is the purest affection
there is no direction
can't take us away from here
'cause we're lost and gone

This is the purest affection
give me the direction take me away from here
'cause i'm lost and gone

IN DECAY

still shimmering while hauled through the dark shackled down by the ones who stole all the trust from you

Even if there's a way to see why they brought this pain so soon flame's wilting away

-

There's no way they'll ever see what the purest heart should be

Torn apart by a traitors fleet
the flesh you were sculpt (from) and now they're here for blood again

-

Tonight
devouring air through despair Poison filling blackened kind let the leeches fall

-

There's no way they'll ever see
what the purest heart should be

Torn apart by a traitors fleet
the flesh you were sculpt (from)
and when all the lights are gone prey's been ripped away something's hidden in decay and by a dawn at the sootiest time

(from the ravine within your soul I'll come) for you

FACE THE LIGHT

Once again
There's something in the air It's moving on Feeding rusty chain

Falling through the memories
For now the pain stays away

All those years
Waiting to be heard

Frozen by the sun
Hiding next to fear

Oh, what you've felt before
No need to crawl anymore

Face the light
Through your night
All those shadows just bleeding away

No one can hold you - Not anymore You should take what you've been looking for

I felt you in a dream while drifting through The final smile
Last thing from you

All what we've felt before Could this be the cure?

Face the light
Through your night
All those shadows just bleeding away

No one will hold you - Not anymore You should take what you came for

CONCEIVING DOOM

walking on left side of the trail to feel black blood rushing again where is the warmth of devotion tonight?

Followed by the waves of peril the sight is gone what is waiting to be faced so eager to be seen?

Marching down red beams burning life to the ground only if there'd be a way to make you feel

Light that you're holding under rage and fear should go on way beyond but you'll never let it be from a sour void you can't flee

From the deepest hideout in your soul
you're reaching for a home
while wreaking anger without single sign from the past

should I let you go?
what's the price to be free?
one day you will see you've been changing me

Already the den has fallen apart behind your mask
conceiving doom

IF one thing is clear you're out here to defy still deflating me

We will never be the same fucked by a vicious game again

-

this is the end of our trail beaten by the waves of peril life's been burnt to the ground it's time to go

-

Exhaling the coldest fire of vast and pure despair bleeding the bitter air in cadence of your rumbling end

-

From the deepest hideout in your soul
you're reaching for a home
while wreaking anger without single sign from the past

Should I let you go?
what's the price to be free?
One day you will see
You've been changing